Good Day Alabama for November 18, 2009

Posted: Nov 18, 2009 7:37 AM EST
Updated: Nov 18, 2009 10:45 AM EST

Here is what you saw on Good Day Alabama for November 18, 2009:

ZOO CREW - Mickey visits with Jason Miles, the Predator Keeper at the Birmingham Zoo, to learn more about the Bobcat. For more information, visit www.birminghamzoo.com

JEH JEH LIVE - The Alabama Civic Chorale (ACC), with members of the Alabama Symphony Orchestra (ASO), will present its 62nd annual performance of George Frideric Handel's beloved musical, Messiah, on Sunday, Nov. 22 at 3 p.m. The performance will be held at Riverchase United Methodist Church in Hoover, and early arrival is recommended due to traditionally large crowds.

JONATHAN SINGER - Botanica Magnifica features 250 stunning photographs of rare and exotic plants and flowers by Hasselblad Laureate Award winner Jonathan Singer. Jonathan Singer's double-elephant folio of Botanica Magnifica is kept in the Cullman Rare Book Room at the Smithsonian Institution Libraries. Dr. Singer was named a Hasselblad Laureate Award winner based on his contribution to fine art photography and to "our perception and appreciation of the botanical world." He will be speaking tonight at 5pm at the Birmingham Botanical Gardens!

WHY DOGS ARE BETTER THAN CATS - Dogs and Cats. Friends or Foes? The conflict between the species, like the debate between their owners, has continued for centuries. International best-selling author Bradley Trevor Greive finally puts the debate to rest by teaming up with world renowned photographer Rachael Hale to present Why Dogs Are Better Than Cats (Andrews McMeel Publishing, $19.99). Penned by the author whose prose has sold more than 15 million books in 115 countries, BTG writes from the perspective of one who knows - and tells. But be advised his delightful discourse is no diatribe. He is prodig, not anticat. Paired with magnificently captured canine and feline images from award-winning photographer Rachael Hale (whose books have sold more than 2.5 million copies in 11 languages), the compelling package of Why Dogs Are Better Than Cats is, quite simply, irresistible. The most prolific and best-selling gift-book writer of our time, BTG's signature wit and warmth charm readers effortlessly with observant gems.

ASK THE DOCTOR - Dr. Peily Soong took questions from viewers about children's health. For more information you can contact him at Children's Hospital

GARDENING - The Birmingham Botanical Gardens has a full schedule of activities coming up. As Andrew Krebbs puts it, the gardens continue to be a valuable asset for the city and with a mission of educating people about plants as well. Andrew says that the gardens have just won a national award for their horticultural therapy program. He says thousands of people benefit from their education programs and that most of them are free. He also says membership is truly a unique gift that supports a great cause, but also pays for itself. Members receive free adult classes, reciprocal privileges to over 200 Botanical Gardens across the country, free admission to member events like Cocktails at the Gardens and free plants, just to name a few. If you sign up you will receive a free member-only t-shirt or shopping tote. If you wish further information you can log on to www.bbgardens.org.

Tomorrow on Good Day Alabama, Jeh Jeh puts his dance skills up against some of the best with the MadSkillz Dancers! Dave Ramsey joins us live with financial advice! The Georgia Aquarium highlights some new attractions - we check them out in the studio! We celebrate the Great American Smokeout with one employer who made a BIG promise to his employees! Tune in to check out what that is! Our pet of the week joins us and we check out the latest in entertainment news! That and more tomorrow on Good Day Alabama!
